BACKGROUND SCREENING

by Trusted Employees

Every organization wants to hire responsible and trustworthy staff and volunteers. This is done best by including background screening in your hiring and employment processes. It is recommended that you and your organization screen volunteers and employees that work with children, the elderly, vulnerable populations, money, or transportation before any job offer. It is also recommended that you and your organization complete background screening on an annual basis to capture any changes that might affect your employee's or volunteer's eligibility for employment.
